

NMCO Discussion Forum Policy

1. By accessing and using the NMCO Discussion Forum you will automatically be taken to have read, understood and accepted this Discussion Forum Policy. If you do not agree to be bound by this Discussion Forum Policy or you fail to observe any of the provisions of this Discussion Forum Policy, we reserve the right, at our sole discretion and without notice, to remove or edit any messages we deem inappropriate or disruptive to the New Mexico chess community or contain clearly incorrect information. We reserve the right to prohibit users who in any way violate acceptable Forum behavior from participating in our discussions.
2. We require all posts to be constructive, on topic and polite about any subject of interest to the New Mexico chess community. Our aim is to keep the Forum interesting and educational. The title should reflect the content of the post.
3. Posts must be made by a person, do not use nicknames, emails, or a URL. We don't allow impersonation of others or other behavior that is misleading or intended to be misleading, such as users misrepresenting their affiliation with a person or organization.
4. All posts in NMCO Discussion Forum must be written in English as we don't have the resources to distinguish or evaluate inappropriate written material in other languages.
5. The NMCO Discussion Forum is a family Forum and we want everyone to have a positive experience while participating in our Forum. Use respectful language. Our community will flourish only when our Members feel welcome and safe. Accordingly, do not post anything that is unlawful, libelous, defamatory, obscene, harassing, threatening, abusive, inflammatory, or otherwise disrespectful, objectionable or injurious to others. We welcome your opinions, but personal attacks and harassment using our Forum are not acceptable. Posters are expected to exercise good judgment when posting or responding about controversial or sensitive issues. We do not censor opinions or ideas but we do take action against posts and/or topics that could cause unrest in the NM chess community beyond a civil and polite disagreement.
6. The NMCO Discussion Forum can only be used in a noncommercial manner. Do not post any messages advertising products or services for profit or gain, with one exception. Chess tournament or activity announcements or announcements that provide useful professional chess related information to Forum users but may also have some incidental commercial benefit to the poster are acceptable.
7. NMCO regrets that it cannot honor requests to remove posts unless the request is from the original poster or NMCO agrees that a post violates the Discussion Forum Policy.
8. Users of the NMCO Discussion Forum are solely responsible for all Content of their postings. NMCO does not endorse any opinions or ideas expressed by any Forum users in any Messages and users should recognize that a Forum posting does not represent the opinions, plans, or intentions of the NMCO Board, either individually or collectively.
